

Livestock Identification Services Ltd

July 14, 2006

Livestock Identification Services Ltd (LIS) is now offering Canadian Cattle Identification Agency (CCIA) approved Radio Frequency ID (RFID) 'Tag Reading Services' for producers submitting age verified (AV) cattle to any federal abattoir. LIS will read RFID tags on cattle being selected for harvest, submit this data to the CCIA website for a birth-date certificate and forward the data collected along with the producer signed birth-date certificate to any federal abattoir requesting this AV verification.

LIS has a standard charge-out rate that starts at $35.00 per hour plus expenses for this and other related services. This rate sheet will be provided to you in advance of the service being performed along with a required indemnity form. LIS will simply bill you once the service has been completed and forwarded to the federal abattoir.

Please contact your local LIS office for more information and to book your AV tag reading service.
